Development of a composite hydrogel brain tissue phantom and high resolution finite element models of brain shift and indentation

The group led by Dr. Dini at Imperial College has carried out different tests to identify the mechanical